

Linh Nguyen

Lnguyen1021@gmail.com
www.linkedin.com/in/nguyenlinhd
Nashville, TN

HIGHLIGHT

A curious individual interested in the intersect between data and health outcomes.

EDUCATION

M.S. in Data Science Vanderbilt University, Nashville, TN	Aug 2019 - Current
B.S. in Health Promotion and Behavior University of Georgia, Athens, GA	Aug 2014 - May 2017
Professional Education Certificate in Data Analytics and Visualization Georgia Tech, Atlanta, GA	Jun 2018 - Nov 2018

TECHNICAL KNOWLEDGE

R	SQL
Python	Microsoft VBA
Git	MongoDB
Data analysis	Feature engineering
Data wrangling	Data querying
Version control	ML
Simulation	ETL

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Oak Ridge Institute for Science and Education (ORISE) Fellow Quality and Safety Systems Branch Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, Atlanta, GA <ul style="list-style-type: none">- Developed a manuscript on reducing blood sample hemolysis in emergency departments.- Collaborated with stakeholders and subject matter experts on the development of the manuscript on reducing blood sample hemolysis in emergency departments.	Feb 2018 - Sept 2018
Oak Ridge Institute for Science and Education (ORISE) Fellow Laboratory Research and Evaluations Branch Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, Atlanta, GA <ul style="list-style-type: none">- Synthesized and presented background research for a metanalysis on reducing blood sample hemolysis in emergency departments at the Laboratory Medicine's Best Practice Workgroup meeting.- Conducted and lead a metanalysis on the reduction of hemolysis in emergency departments.	Aug 2017 - Feb 2018
Guest Researcher Laboratory Practice Standards Branch Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, Atlanta, GA <ul style="list-style-type: none">- Wrangled and visualized historical data from 60 analytes between 2000-2017 using Centers for Medicare and Medicaid data.	Jun 2017 – Aug 2017